Ayden Marshfield Children's Hospital - extreme prematurity

Ayden entered this world at 25 weeks gestation weighing only 14 ounces. He was roughly the size of a dollar bill and had to fight for each breath. It was 10 excruciating weeks before Ayden's mother held him for the first time. It was nine months before he graduated from tube feeding and had his first bottle. And it was 515 days before Ayden was able to go home, though he still required around-the-clock care from specially trained nurses.

His early life entrance affected not only his size, but his eyes, lungs and heart as well. Eye and hernia surgeries, a feeding tube placement and a tracheostomy, along with occupational, speech and physical therapies have each helped immensely.

Now, Ayden is doing quite well. Described as friendly and outgoing, Ayden is known for greeting his classmates by name as he walks down the hall. He has an incredible memory, loves music and dancing and, if it was up to him, he'd always be outside.

Gifts from people like you helped Ayden's intensive care nurses become certified as an essential home-care group that provided around-the-clock care once he was finally discharged. CMN Hospitals funds also provided a wheelchair that could hold Ayden and the oxygen, ventilator and feeding tubes he depended on.

Children's Miracle Network
Hospitals

Serving the Marshfield community for over 30 years, Children's Miracle Network Hospitals (CMNH) at Marshfield Children's Hospital is one of only three CMNH sites in Wisconsin. 62 children enter a Children's Miracle Network Hospital for treatment every minute. Whether they suffer from common childhood afflictions like asthma and broken bones, or fight bigger challenges like birth defects or cancer, CMN Hospitals provide comfort, treatment and hope to millions of sick kids. In fact, CMN Hospitals treat one in 10 children in North America each year.

CMN Hospitals, including Marshfield Children's Hospital, are available 24 hours a day to help kids of every age and background overcome every injury and illness imaginable. Marshfield Children's Hospital is also on the front lines of preventing disease and injury through research, education and outreach programs that keep millions of kids out of the hospital each year. This year, CMNH members will provide $3.4 billion in charity care alone.
